

The 1891 Blog Disclaimer

The CWBA provides this platform, The 1891 Blog, for our members to share their experience, knowledge, and community across fields in the legal profession. We aim to do this responsibly.

Disclaimer regarding authors

The views expressed in our blog posts and the #IRL Forum are solely those of the original authors and do not necessarily represent those of the CWBA as an entity. While we have expert editors that review each post before it goes up, it should in no way serve as professional legal advice or be the catalyst by which a variable or situation is considered actionable. We also make no promise, express or implied, of completeness or total accuracy of information contained or referenced on this site. The affiliations of individual authors with outside organizations also do not necessarily reflect the interests of the CWBA.

Disclaimer regarding content

The CWBA accepts no responsibility for recommendations made in The 1891 blog by individual authors. We are not liable in any manner whatsoever for any direct, indirect, or consequential happenings that come of information or opinions expressed in the blog or forum. Furthermore, any links to outside sources or organizations shared in blog posts or on the forum have no legitimate affiliation with the CWBA unless explicitly stated, and therefore claim no legal or social association with our organization. We hold no opinions or beliefs about any outside products, businesses, or services mentioned by individual authors unless officially endorsed by the CWBA.

Section 107 of the Copyright Act of 1976 states that allowance is made for fair use of copyrighted materials for the purposes of criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, education, and research. All authors referencing such materials do so solely for the aforementioned purposes.

We exist to serve our members and empower women in the legal community at large, so if you have any questions or comments about opinions or information shared in our blog, please contact us publications@cwba.org.